Despite our best efforts, sometimes things just go wrong. And when things go wrong with a piece of farm equipment, things can get very expensive very quick. That's when a warranty like the Cenex Total Protection Plan® can help you get back in the fields fast, as Brent Fluit, owner of Fluit Farms in Luverne, Minnesota, found out last fall.

While working the fields, the hydraulics in Fluit's Challenger tractor started getting hot because of a malfunctioning internal pump, so he got it to his local dealer. In order to get to the source of the problem, the mechanics had to open everything up, which meant high labor costs. Worse yet, the tractor was 80 hours over the coverage cap of the manufacturer's warranty, so Fluit could have been in a real bind.

Fortunately, Fluit, who has been using Cenex® fuels and lubricants since almost forever, had his tractor enrolled in the Cenex Total Protection Plan®, which provided greater protection than the manufacturer. The Cenex Total Protection Plan® offers total security by covering new equipment for up to 10 years or 10,000 hours and used equipment for up to 8 years or 8,000 hours, with no deductible. So, when Fluit received a bill for $11,981.99, the warranty stepped in and covered the cost with no unnecessary paperwork or headaches.

With help from Cooperative Energy Company and the hassle-free claims process, Fluit soon had his tractor back in the fields. "The claims process was very simple. I didn't know what to expect, but I was very pleased with the result," Fluit said. "We filed the claim, and emailed the form in. It was simple and straightforward."
